CHARG Resource Center Announces New Executive Director

July 20, 2018 – DENVER CO - CHARG Resource Center is excited to announce that Todd Helvig, PhD has been hired as the new Executive Director of CHARG Resource Center. Dr. Helvig will assume the Executive Director position on July 23, 2018. He replaces David Burgess, LCSW, who served nearly 29 years as the founding Executive Director of CHARG.

Megan Devenport, CHARG's Board of Directors shared, "We conducted a thorough search that took over six months; we are thrilled to have found Todd. We believe he will build on CHARG's legacy of empowerment, and expand our ability to serve and partner with adults with mental illness."

Todd is a clinical psychologist with more than 15 years of experience in leadership, organizational development, innovative executive leadership management, training, mentoring, and strategic planning. His past experience includes: licensed psychologist, executive/organizational coach, Director of Business Development for Arapahoe Douglas Mental Health Network, and several Behavioral Health Services positions with the Colorado Department of Corrections.

Todd and his wife, Dr. Kristi Helvig (also a Clinical Psychologist and author) have called Colorado home for the last 18 years, and are raising their 2 children in Parker, Colorado. Their favorite family time consists of sporting events, arts, hiking, and making each other laugh.

ABOUT CHARG RESOURCE CENTER

An innovative community established in 1989, CHARG serves adults with major mental illnesses such as schizophrenia, bipolar illness, and major depression. It is a joint venture of mental health consumers and professionals, who together believe that effective & lasting empowerment of persons with mental illness occurs when they can make decisions regarding their needs, and that they thrive with dependable & ongoing services.
